Math Peer Mentor Matthew Dyson

Hello. My name is Matthew! I'm an electrical engineering student with a passion for systems. As a peer mentor, my goal is to make sure anyone who comes to me for help not only receives that help but also leaves knowing how to ask the right questions when they're unsure about something. I'm excited to spend time with all of you talking about math!

My dream is to become an engineer to help fight climate change and build a new world for the next generation. I care deeply for the planet and how humans impact it. I am also the secretary for the Phi Theta Kappa MESA chapter.

Not only am I passionate about engineering, but I also love math, philosophy, history, psychology, and science. I want to spend my life learning as much as possible about all these subjects.

Fun Fact: Many people have told me that my laugh sounds loud and diabolical.
